

Why a SUN & WIND ENERGY Special Edition Italy?

Italy has come to be known as one of the most important markets in the global solar industry – particularly since the passage of the Conto Energia III subsidies legislation which guarantees lucrative feed-in tariffs until the end of 2013.

Installed photovoltaic capacity in Italy amounted to some 470 MW in 2008, according to data provided by the Gestore dei Servizi Elettrici (GSE), the government agency responsible for paying the feed-in tariff. By the end of 2009, total installed capacity had already reached 1,130 MW. Experts say that 2010 saw the addition of another 1,500 MW of newly installed systems.

In the Special Edition Italy 2011, SUN & WIND ENERGY will once again point to new developments in the Italian market. In previous years we have explained the fundamental structures of the Italian market. This year we will take a look at new trends and the latest news to keep market players up to date.

Here's why you should be in Special Edition Italy:

- Take advantage of the numerous prospects in the Italian market.
- Grab attention, time and again, due to the long life of the special edition.
- Take advantage of the wide circulation:
  - 25,000 copies in English, distributed with SUN & WIND ENERGY 11, reach an international audience.
  - 15,000 copies in Italian ensure a presence in Italy's market.
  - A full 6,000 Italian copies are reserved for the key trade fairs in Italy.
