

100 % Made in Italy

28 years of experience and technical innovations haven't change the cornerstone: Emiflex's aim was and always has been to provide safe, reliable and high quality flexible metal hoses for the gas and water industry. From its humble beginnings in 1981 the company rapidly grew, expanding its range of products to include both metal and rubber expansion joints for the industrial sector and flexible hoses for the solar industry.

The company philosophy of "Safety First" has seen Emiflex build a solid reputation for producing high-quality corrugated metal hoses and has resulted in Emiflex becoming the market leader in Italy and the third largest metal hose manufacturer in Europe. This philosophy is evident in the quality of "Emisolar", the company's insulated piping for the solar system. The combination of the corrugated metal flexible tube in AISI 316L, EPDM foam insulation and UV-resistant heavy duty plastic coating is an excellent solution for solar installations.

Emiflex both designs and builds its own tube-manufacturing machinery. The ongoing process of research and development allows it to rapidly implement any new cost cutting ideas in order to remain price competitive in the face of ever growing pressure from international competitors.

The company prides itself on its 100% "Made in Italy" hose production. Emiflex has two production sites, one in Varedo (Milano) and the other in Sardinia. In addition Emiflex has a very large, fully stocked warehouse which guarantees short term delivery of all its products and helps maintain the high level of customer service which has always been a distinguishing mark of the company. The extensive network of sales representatives ensures the availability of the products throughout the country. Moreover, Emiflex has developed a successful overseas market allowing it to export its products to more than 30 countries.
